THEY STRUNG UP FOUR

More Details of the Lynchings in California.

TIED OF THE REIGN OF CRIME.

The Citizens of Yreka Took the Punishment of a Quartet of Murderers Into Their Own Hands—A Negro Murderer Hanged in Kentucky.

YREKA, Cal., Aug. 27.—Later details of the lynching of four murderers by a mob of 250 men here, have developed the fact that a band of citizens, fearing that the law would not be carried out, and angered over the atrocity of recent crimes, determined to take matters into their own hands. The lynching was the ghastly climax to the reign of lawlessness which has prevailed in Siskiyou county for some months past. One of the victims was Lawrence Johnson, who, on the evening of July 28, stabbed his wife to death in the town of Etna. Another was William Null, who shot Henry Hayter in the back with a rifle, near Callahan's, on April 21. Louis Moreno and Garland Zemler, who are supposed to have killed George Sears and Casper Meierhans, at Bailey Hill, in August, were also hanged.

The sheriff and one of his deputies were decoyed to another part of the town by two members of the mob who were engaged in a sham fight, and the fire bell was muffled to prevent an alarm being given in that way. When the jail was reached a number of the men, all of whom were masked, came to Deputy Sheriff Radford and demanded the keys from him. He positively refused to open the door or give the keys up, telling them if they broke in the doors he would blow their brains out. Finding that Radford was determined not to give them the keys, they went across to the jail and got on top of a stone wall which surrounds it.

Deputy Sheriff Henry Brahtlacht, who has been sleeping in the jail since the commitment of so many murderers, thinking some one was escaping from the jail, fired two shots out of the window to alarm City Marshal Parks and Deputy Sheriff Radford. He then opened the doors and was immediately held up by the mob, who took the keys from him and entered the jail. Having no keys to the different cells, they were compelled to burst the locks with a sledgehammer, which they proceeded to do at once.

Lawrence H. Johnson was the first to receive the attention of the mob. They broke the lock from the door of his cell and placing a rope around his neck led him out of the jail and across the street to where the iron rail was laid between the forks of two locust trees. Johnson pleaded for mercy, but the silent gathering gave no heed to his appeals, and he was quickly strung up, dying from strangulation in a few minutes.

The mob returned to the jail and then broke into the cell of William Null. He desired to make a statement, but time was too valuable to permit any such preliminaries, and he was soon hanging alongside of Johnson.

Louis Moreno was then taken from his cell and was soon swinging with Johnson and Null.

The last and youngest of the four murderers to pay the penalty of his crime was Garland Zemler, aged about 19. A rope was placed around Zemler's neck and he was led from the jail in his bare feet. Zemler begged for mercy, and his last words were, "Tell my dear old mother I am innocent of the crime." About this time Sheriff Hobbs, who had been notified, arrived on the scene, and starting for the jail door was commanded to halt, the command being emphasized by the display of several revolvers. He was told that the "job had been done." Then the mob dispersed.

KNIGHTS CAPTURE BOSTON.

The City of Culture Surrenders to an Invading Army of 25,000.

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—Boston has surrendered to an invading army and is in the hands of 25,000 Sir Knights Templar. These, with the ladies, accompanying them, and the immense throng of visitors attracted to the Hub by the conclave and the low railroad rates have swelled the city's population to such an extent as to cause one to wonder if all the inhabitants of Greater Boston have been forced inside the city's limits.

The entire city has donned a holiday dress and on every hand flags, banners, gaily colored streamers and flashing lights greet the eye. Immense numbers of incandescent lights have been arranged to represent every known Masonic emblem. The Masonic Temple decoration are, of course, the most elaborate, the principal feature being a huge outline cross of colored lights, covering almost the entire front of the building. The Abbot building is not far behind and all along Newspaper Row the occupants have extended a welcome to the Sir Knights in a blaze of light. The weather clerk says there is no cause for alarm, and everyone is expecting a glorious night today when the thousands of knights parade.

LIBRARIAN SPOFFORD TALKS.

He Explains the Recent Alleged Shortage In His Accounts.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Librarian Spofford, in view of various conflicting statements regarding the sum of $22,400 paid by him into the treasury last week, was asked what the amount really represented. He replied that it was approximately the amount due the treasury on balance of copyright and salary accounts, as he found it. An unfavorable and wholly wrong construction, he said, had been placed upon it as representing a large deficit, whereas it was actually a balance between two accounts, a salary account due the librarian for several months' disbursement and an amount due the government for several months' copyright fees.

These accounts had remained unsettled, although constant payments had been made by him to the number of 10 or 12 during 1894 and 1895 of copyright receipts, amounting to over $5,000, besides the $22,400 now deposited. He emphatically denied any allegation was made to make any wrongful withholding of moneys due to the government. On the contrary, the whole matter involved a balancing of delayed accounts, which his accumulated labors, constantly growing, had too long postponed. All copyright receipts had been entered daily, with dates, sources and amounts, whether small or large, duly noted, and he (Spofford) held himself responsible for the same.

Nothing Yet Heard From Denby.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Minister Denby has not yet advised the state department concerning the present situation in China. Acting Secretary Adee said that the minister was not the kind of a man to report what he intended to do or to report progress at certain stages of business he has in view, but would be more likely to report an accomplished fact. He had no doubt that the minister was doing all that it was possible to do.

Each side now has its case well in hand and a hard legal battle is expected.
